Beginning March 3, students attending any event or meeting in person must have a negative COVID-19 test result within seven days of the event.

See below for important information you need to know!

Students must have one of the following:

- Curative Test Result UNT automatically will receive.
- BinaxNow Test Result (test given through the Student Health and Wellness Center’s mobile testing program). Will show result on mobile device at door.
- An uploaded positive COVID test result within the last 90 days, which would exempt the student from weekly testing.

  The results must be uploaded at least 72 hours prior to the event so it can be confirmed.
  The results will only have to be uploaded once. Upload to unt.tfaforms.net/218007

*Students must bring UNT Student ID or another form of identification to event/meeting.

Curative and BinaxNow test results are valid for seven days.

If a student wants to attend an event, but does not have valid Curative or BinaxNow test results, they must make arrangements with one of the on campus testing partners below to test at least 72 hours prior to event but no earlier than 7 days. This will ensure availability of an appointment and your results being received by the event date.

When registering to take one of these COVID tests, you must use your name as shown in the MyUNT portal (do not use nicknames).

To reserve your timeslot, use one of the links below:

Only Curative and BinaxNow COVID test results will be accepted for entrance to events.

Even if you have received the COVID-19 vaccine, you will need to test until we understand more about the effectiveness of vaccines and the impact of the new strands of COVID.
